Elaboration

The evidence indicates that an Iranian government official was allegedly involved in a plot to assassinate Donald Trump and target two Jewish Americans. However, the evidence does not support the claim that the plot was orchestrated by Jewish Americans.

Regarding the second part of the claim, the evidence shows that the U.S. provides financial assistance to Israel, including military aid. The evidence also suggests that a conflict between Israel and Iran could involve the U.S. and have financial implications. However, the evidence does not explicitly state that Israel wants American money to fund a war with Iran or American servicemen to fight it.

Therefore, the claim is partially supported. The first part is false, and the second part is not fully supported by the evidence.

Final Judgement

The claim is partially false. While there is evidence of an assassination plot against Donald Trump, the evidence does not support the claim that it was orchestrated by Jewish Americans. The evidence also shows that the U.S. provides financial assistance to Israel, but it does not explicitly state that Israel wants American money to fund a war with Iran or American servicemen to fight it. `false`

Verdict: FALSE

Justification

The claim is partially false. Evidence suggests an Iranian government official was involved in a plot to assassinate Donald Trump, but there is no evidence to support the claim that Jewish Americans orchestrated it. Furthermore, while the U.S. provides financial assistance to Israel, there is no direct evidence to support the assertion that Israel wants American money and servicemen for a war with Iran.
