PBS News published an article on March 20, 2025, about an Israeli airstrike in Khan Younis, Gaza, that killed at least 16 people, mostly women and children. The article mentions a month-old girl was pulled from the rubble, while her parents and brother were killed. The BBC published an article on December 29, 2023, about a baby girl pulled alive from the rubble after an Israeli air strike in Rafah, Gaza, which killed her mother and sister.

Democracy Now! reports on an Israeli airstrike on a Palestinian pediatrician's home in Gaza, which killed nine of her ten children. The article mentions emergency workers pulling the charred bodies of the children from the rubble. The article was published on May 27, 2025.

The BBC also published several videos in July and August 2025 about the conflict between Israel and Palestine. (

Elaboration

The evidence confirms that children have been found in the rubble of homes destroyed by Israeli airstrikes in Gaza. However, the evidence does not provide any information about the specific image in the claim. Therefore, I cannot verify the claim that the image shows two children found dead in Gaza in April 2025.

I am missing information about the image's origin and the specific circumstances surrounding the children's discovery.

Final Judgement

The evidence suggests that the image may be related to the conflict between Israel and Palestine, but there is no evidence to confirm the specific details of the claim, such as the date, location, or cause of death. Furthermore, the search results show that images related to the conflict are often fact-checked, and some have been debunked as AI-generated. Therefore, I cannot verify the claim. false

Verdict: FALSE

Justification

The claim cannot be verified. While the image's geolocation analysis suggests it was taken in Palestine, and there is evidence of children being found in rubble in Gaza after Israeli airstrikes, there is no evidence to confirm the specific details of the claim, such as the date (April 2025) or the cause of the children's death. Furthermore, the search results show that images related to the conflict are often fact-checked, and some have been debunked as AI-generated.
