Evidence

Evidence from `web_search`

The claim that Major General Tomer Bar was killed in a Hezbollah drone strike is false, according to an AOL fact-check published on December 12, 2024, which states there is no evidence to support the claim and no media outlets have reported his death (

), Inshorts also reported on December 9, 2024, that Tomer Bar is alive and was not killed in a November drone attack (

The search results also mention Tomer Bar, the Commander of the Israeli Air Force, in the context of the killing of journalists in Gaza.

Elaboration

The claim is false. Multiple sources confirm that Major General Tomer Bar is alive. An AOL fact-check and Inshorts both state that there is no evidence to support the claim of his death.

Press TV reported that Hezbollah claimed to have targeted Tomer Bar's residence in Tel Aviv with a drone attack on November 18, 2024. However, this does not confirm the claim that he was killed.

Final Judgement

The claim is demonstrably false. Multiple sources, including fact-checks from AOL and Inshorts, state that there is no evidence to support the claim that Major General Tomer Bar was killed. While Press TV reported a Hezbollah claim of targeting his residence, this does not confirm his death.

false

Verdict: FALSE

Justification

The claim that Major General Tomer Bar was killed in a drone attack is false. Fact-checks from sources like AOL and Inshorts state there is no evidence to support the claim, and Tomer Bar is alive. While Press TV reported a Hezbollah claim of targeting his residence, this does not confirm his death.
