Evidence

Evidence from web_search

The AOL article (<https://www.aol.com/fact-check-elon-musk-didn-164103080.html>) fact-checks the claim that Elon Musk posted a "last dollar" image for Zelenskyy and states the claim is false. The Politico.eu article (<https://www.politico.eu/article/billionaire-elon-musk-mocks-ukraine-president-zelenskyy-asking-aid-with-meme/>) reports that Elon Musk mocked Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy using a meme.

The StopFake.org article (<https://www.stopfake.org/en/fake-ukraine-stopped-using-the-starlink-system-and-insulted-elon-musk-united24/>) discusses a fake post about Elon Musk and Zelensky.

Evidence from `reverse_search`

The image in the claim was found on a website with the title "Dollar Bill Frame Gold Glass Frame For Coin Display Wall Hanging ...", but the website is not available. The image was also found on Etsy, which shows a listing for custom dollar bill art, including one with Elon Musk's face. The image is also available as a sticker on Redbubble.

Elaboration

The claim is false. The evidence indicates that the image is a meme and not an authentic post by Elon Musk. The reverse image search shows that the image is available on Etsy and Redbubble as custom art. Additionally, fact-check articles from AOL and Politico.eu confirm that the claim is false.

Final Judgement

The claim is demonstrably false. The image is a meme and not an authentic post by Elon Musk. The reverse image search shows that the image is available on Etsy and Redbubble as custom art. Fact-check articles confirm that the claim is false. false

Verdict: FALSE

Justification

The claim that Elon Musk posted an image with the text "The last dollar for Zelenskiy" is false. The image is a meme, and the reverse image search reveals it is available as custom art on platforms like Etsy and Redbubble. Fact-check articles from sources like AOL and Politico.eu confirm the inauthenticity of the post.
