Elaboration

The evidence confirms that Hezbollah launched an attack on Ramat David Airbase on September 22, 2024. The image search results show images of fire and blasts at the airbase. However, the geolocation of the image in the claim suggests it was taken in South Korea, not Israel.

Therefore, the claim is likely false. The image may depict a different event or be digitally altered. Further investigation is needed to confirm the image's authenticity and origin.

Final Judgement

The provided evidence confirms that Hezbollah attacked Ramat David Airbase on September 22, 2024. However, the geolocation data suggests the image was taken in South Korea, not Israel. While the web search and image search results confirm the attack, they do not validate the authenticity of the specific image in the claim.
