Elaboration

The evidence confirms that Lech Wałęsa wrote a letter to Donald Trump in March 2025. The letter criticized Trump's treatment of Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy. However, the provided evidence does not explicitly mention whether the letter specifically criticized Trump's decision to suspend the delivery of U.S. military aid to Ukraine.

The NPR article (<https://www.npr.org/2025/03/05/nx-s1-5317474/nobel-peace-prize-winner-lech-walesa-condemns-president-trumps-treatment-of-zelenskyy>) and the Reuters article (<https://www.reuters.com/world/polish-cold-war-hero-walesa-writes-trump-expressing-horror-zelenskiy-spat-2025-03-03/>) focus on Wałęsa's criticism of Trump's behavior towards Zelenskyy. The Los Angeles Times article (<https://www.latimes.com/world-nation/story/2025-03-03/polish-democracy-hero-walesa-says-trump-treatment-of-zelensky-filled-him-with-horror>) also supports this.

Therefore, the claim is partially supported, but it lacks specific evidence regarding the suspension of military aid.
