Elaboration

The evidence indicates that after the call between Trump and Putin on February 12, 2025, they agreed to begin negotiations to end the war in Ukraine and start talks toward a ceasefire. However, the evidence does not state that Trump announced he had reached an agreement to end the war.

The CNN article (<https://www.cnn.com/2025/02/12/politics/putin-trump-phone-call>) states that they agreed to have their teams start negotiations immediately. The NPR article (<https://www.npr.org/2025/03/18/nx-s1-5331887/trump-putin-ukraine-call>) mentions that they agreed to start talks toward a ceasefire. The Wikipedia article (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/February_2025_Putin%E2%80%93Trump_phone_call) mentions that Trump shared details of the conversation and agreed to begin peace talks.

Final Judgement

The evidence confirms that Trump and Putin had a call on February 12, 2025, and agreed to begin negotiations and peace talks. However, the evidence does not support the claim that Trump announced he had reached an agreement to end the war.

false

Verdict: FALSE

Justification

Following the phone call between Trump and Putin on February 12, 2025, they agreed to begin negotiations and peace talks, as reported by CNN, NPR, and Wikipedia. However, the evidence does not support the claim that Trump announced he had reached an agreement to end the war.
