The Yahoo News article, published by Fox News, discusses a claim that Biden said no more aid would be provided for Hurricane Helene victims. The article states that Biden announced a new $8 billion military aid package for Ukraine on Sept. 26, 2024. The article also mentions that Biden said he would be asking Congress for a supplemental aid bill for those affected by the storm. Elaboration

The evidence contradicts the claim. According to a Yahoo News article, Biden did not announce that no more aid would be provided for Hurricane Helene victims. Instead, he stated he would ask Congress for a supplemental aid bill for those affected by the storm. The same article mentions that Biden announced an $8 billion military aid package for Ukraine on September 26, 2024, not $2.4 billion.

Final Judgement

The evidence indicates that the claim is false. Biden did not announce that no more aid would be provided for Hurricane Helene victims. Instead, he stated he would ask Congress for a supplemental aid bill. The amount of aid for Ukraine mentioned in the claim is also incorrect.

false

Verdict: FALSE

Justification

The claim is false. According to a Yahoo News article, Biden did not announce that no more aid would be provided for Hurricane Helene victims; instead, he stated he would ask Congress for a supplemental aid bill (<https://www.yahoo.com/news/no-biden-didnt-hes-done-162918340.html>). The article also mentions an $8 billion military aid package for Ukraine, not $2.4 billion.
