Evidence

Evidence from `web_search`

Reuters (<https://www.reuters.com/world/europe/zelenskiys-approval-rating-rises-ukraine-after-trump-spat-poll-shows-2025-03-07/>) reported that Zelenskyy's approval rating rose to 67% in March 2025. ABC News (<https://abcnews.go.com/International/zelenskyy-4-approval-trump-claims-50/story?id=118959595>) stated that Donald Trump claimed Zelenskyy's approval rating was 4% in February 2025, but polls showed it was over 50%.

Le Monde (https://www.lemonde.fr/en/opinion/article/2025/04/24/russian-and-american-pressure-boost-zelensky-s-popularity\_6740575\_23.html) reported that Trump referred to Zelensky as a "dictator without elections" in February 2025.

Elaboration

The claim is partially supported by the evidence. ABC News (<https://abcnews.go.com/International/zelenskyy-4-approval-trump-claims-50/story?id=118959595>) states that Donald Trump claimed Zelenskyy's approval rating was 4% in February 2025. However, the same source indicates that polls showed the approval rating was over 50% at that time. Therefore, the claim is only partially correct, as it reflects Trump's statement but not the actual poll results.

Final Judgement

The claim is partially accurate. While Donald Trump did state Zelenskyy's approval rating was 4% in February 2025, this was not supported by polls, which showed an approval rating of over 50%.

Verdict: FALSE

Justification

The claim is partially accurate. While Donald Trump claimed Zelenskyy's approval rating was 4% in February 2025, this was not supported by polls. According to ABC News (<https://abcnews.go.com/International/zelenskyy-4-approval-trump-claims-50/story?id=118959595>), polls showed the approval rating was over 50% at that time.
