Elaboration

The claim that Jamie White was on a Ukrainian enemies hit list is not definitively supported by the evidence. While multiple sources confirm that Jamie White, an InfoWars writer, was shot dead in Austin, Texas, on March 10, 2025, the evidence presents conflicting information regarding the hit list.

Some sources, such as ABC News and Global News, do not mention any connection to a Ukrainian hit list. However, The Investigate Earth Conspiracy Podcast and The Latin Times report that White may have been on a Ukrainian hit list, with the latter stating that Alex Jones and his supporters allege this.

Therefore, the claim's veracity is uncertain, as it relies on allegations and conspiracy theories. More information is needed to verify the claim.

From Source: Content: The Austin American-Statesman reports that Jamie White was possibly killed by car burglars. The Austin Police Department stated that White was found in the parking lot of his apartment complex with trauma to his body. The article does not mention a Ukrainian hit list. The article was updated on March 11, 2025.

Elaboration

The claim is not supported by the evidence. While the evidence confirms that Jamie White was shot dead in Austin, Texas, on March 10, 2025, the official investigation, as reported by the Austin American-Statesman, suggests that he was possibly killed by car burglars. The article does not mention a Ukrainian hit list.

Final Judgement

The claim is not factually accurate because the official investigation suggests that Jamie White was killed by car burglars, and there is no evidence to support the claim that he was on a Ukrainian hit list. `false`

Verdict: FALSE

Justification

The claim that Jamie White was on a Ukrainian enemies hit list is not supported by the evidence. While it is confirmed that White was shot dead in Austin, Texas, on March 10, 2025, the official investigation, as reported by the Austin American-Statesman (Source), suggests he was killed by car burglars, and there is no evidence to support the claim of a Ukrainian hit list.
