Elaboration

The evidence suggests that Israel did bomb military targets in southern Syria outside Damascus in February 2025. The image in the claim was found in an article from Alghad News, published on December 2, 2023, reporting on an Israeli air attack on Damascus. Therefore, the claim is partially supported by the evidence. However, the evidence does not confirm that the image shows the destruction of the last remaining army depots.

Final Judgement

The claim is partially supported by the evidence. While there is evidence of Israeli bombings in the area and time frame mentioned, the image's origin is earlier than the claimed event, and the evidence does not confirm the destruction of the last remaining army depots.
