Elaboration

The evidence includes articles about corruption in Ukraine and the US, as well as images of US politicians. However, there is no evidence to support the claim that the image shows an authentic list released by Ukraine detailing bribes taken by US politicians. The evidence does not mention any such list or provide any information about US politicians taking bribes from Ukraine.

The claim also states that the highest bribe was $92 million for Joe Biden. While the evidence includes images of Joe Biden, there is no information about his net worth or any alleged bribes.

Therefore, the claim cannot be verified based on the provided evidence.

Final Judgement

The search results provide articles about corruption in Ukraine and the US, and images of US politicians, but there is no evidence to support the claim that the image shows an authentic list released by Ukraine detailing bribes taken by US politicians. The evidence does not mention any such list or provide any information about US politicians taking bribes from Ukraine.

The claim is not supported by the evidence. There is no information about the authenticity of the list or the alleged bribes. Therefore, the claim is false.

Verdict: FALSE

Justification

The claim is false. The provided evidence does not support the assertion that the image is an authentic list released by Ukraine detailing bribes taken by US politicians. While the search results include articles about corruption in Ukraine and the US, and images of US politicians, there is no mention of the list or any evidence of the alleged bribes.
