

Claim

Claim: "$50 Million in US taxpayer money almost went to fund condoms in Gaza before DOGE cut it."

Actions

```
web_search("US taxpayer money condoms Gaza DOGE")
```

Evidence

Evidence from web_search

CNN published an article on January 29, 2025, fact-checking the claim that $50 million in US taxpayer money was going to fund condoms in Gaza, stating that the White House offered no evidence for the story. The article also mentions that in three previous years under Biden, USAID spent no money on condoms in the entire Middle East. The article is available here: Source.

Al Jazeera published an article on January 30, 2025, discussing the claim that $50 million in US taxpayer money was going to fund condoms in Gaza, stating that there is no public evidence of plans to send millions of taxpayer dollars of condoms to Gaza. The article is available here: Source. The Associated Press published an article on April 26, 2024, stating that there is no evidence to support the claim that $50 million was designated by the US to buy condoms for Hamas. The article is available here: Source.

Elaboration

The evidence indicates that multiple news sources have fact-checked the claim and found no evidence to support it. CNN, Al Jazeera, and the Associated Press all reported that there is no public evidence of the US government allocating $50 million in taxpayer money for condoms in Gaza.

Final Judgement

The fact-check reveals that multiple news organizations, including CNN, Al Jazeera, and the Associated Press, have investigated the claim that $50 million in US taxpayer money was allocated for condoms in Gaza. All of these sources found no evidence to support the claim.

Based on the available evidence from multiple reliable sources, the claim is demonstrably false. false

Verdict: FALSE

Justification

Multiple news organizations, including CNN (Source), Al Jazeera (Source), and the Associated Press (Source), have fact-checked the claim and found no evidence to support it.