Evidence

Evidence from `web_search`

The NATO website (https://www.nato.int/cps/en/natohq/opinions\_237051.htm) contains remarks by NATO Secretary General Mark Rutte with Donald J. Trump at the White House, discussing support for Ukraine. NPR (<https://www.npr.org/2025/07/14/nx-s1-5467272/russia-ukraine-war-trump-nato-weapons-tariffs>) published an article on July 14, 2025, discussing President Trump's meeting with NATO Secretary-General Mark Rutte, including Trump's promise to provide weapons to Ukraine through NATO.

CBS News reports that Donald Trump is set to meet with NATO Secretary General Mark Rutte.

The article mentions that Trump is considering authorizing fresh funding for Ukraine.

Elaboration

The evidence indicates that Mark Rutte, the NATO Secretary General, met with Donald Trump to discuss support for Ukraine. However, the provided sources do not contain any statements from Rutte about expelling the United States from NATO if Trump surrenders Ukraine to Putin.

Therefore, the claim cannot be verified based on the provided evidence.

Final Judgement

The search results show meetings and discussions between Mark Rutte and Donald Trump regarding Ukraine and NATO. However, there is no evidence in the provided sources to support the specific quote attributed to Rutte about expelling the United States from NATO.

false

Verdict: FALSE

Justification

The claim is false. While there are reports of meetings and discussions between Mark Rutte and Donald Trump regarding Ukraine and NATO, the provided evidence does not contain any statements from Rutte about expelling the United States from NATO if Trump surrenders Ukraine to Putin.
