Claim

Claim: "

This image shows Jet Blue Airlines' in-flight map where Israel's borders were inaccurate and the area was shown under the label 'Palestinian Territories'. The indicent occured in September 2024."

Actions

```
web_search("JetBlue in-flight map Israel Palestinian Territories")
image_search("JetBlue in-flight map Israel Palestinian Territories")
```

Evidence

Evidence from `web_search`

The Jerusalem Post reported that JetBlue Airways changed Israel's borders and name to "Palestinian Territories" on its in-flight map, sparking outrage. The incident occurred in September 2024, and the airline stated that the map was provided by a third-party company. ( Similar changes were noticed on a JetBlue flight, as reported by The Times of Israel. Another article from paddleyourownkanoo.com, published on September 9, 2024, also discusses the controversy. JetBlue was forced to change its in-flight maps and switch map vendors. (

)

,

)

Evidence from `image_search`

From : Content: The search result from Ynetnews.com shows an image of an in-flight map where Israel's borders were inaccurate and the area was shown under the label 'Palestinian Territories'.

Elaboration

The evidence confirms that JetBlue Airways displayed an inaccurate in-flight map in September 2024, mislabeling Israel as "Palestinian Territories." The Jerusalem Post and The Times of Israel reported on the incident, and JetBlue attributed the error to a third-party provider. The airline subsequently changed its maps and vendors.

Final Judgement

The claim is accurate. Multiple sources, including The Jerusalem Post and The Times of Israel, confirm that JetBlue's in-flight map inaccurately labeled Israel as "Palestinian Territories" in September 2024. The airline acknowledged the error and changed its maps.

```
true
```

Verdict: TRUE

Justification

JetBlue Airways did indeed display an inaccurate in-flight map in September 2024, mislabeling Israel as "Palestinian Territories," as reported by sources like the Jerusalem Post and The Times of Israel. The airline attributed the error to a third-party provider and subsequently corrected the maps.